

RAVEN BONNIWELL

Raven Bonniwell is a Leadership Coach with the soul of an artist. Before becoming a coach, Raven worked in the non-profit theatre industry. Drawing from her artistic background, she brings creativity, heart, and rigor to her coaching clients. Raven has a passion for developing leaders who are champions for the greater good.

Raven works with clients to thrive in all aspects of life – from business to personal. She believes that loving one's life completely makes stronger, more compassionate leaders. Working from a holistic and ontological perspective, Raven supports her clients in creating teams where all members grow together. Current clients include non-profit leaders, artists, arts administrators, entrepreneurs, and coaches.

In addition to coaching, Raven co-founded We Happy Few, a non-profit classical theatre company in Washington, DC, where she serves as the Executive Director. Under her leadership, We Happy Few has emerged as a well-respected non-profit company that seeks to redefine the “classic” while offering new perspectives on archetypal stories.

Raven served as a member of the leadership team at Accomplishment Coaching (AC) for 5 years. With AC she mentored and instructed future generations of coaches as part of an internationally recognized Coach Training Program. In addition, Raven was a member of the Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion team within AC. Raven is an Accomplishment Coaching Certified Coach and holds a Professional Certified Coach (PCC) credential from the International Coach Federation.
