

RAVEN BONNIWELL

RAVEN.BONNIWELL@GMAIL.COM

Raven is a transformational coach who has worked extensively with leaders and innovators in multiple professional backgrounds, including Health Care, Higher Education, Academic Medicine, Government, Law, and Non-Profit management. She has logged more than 2,000 coaching hours for clients including non-profit executives, private sector CEO's, higher education faculty, hospital administrators, physicians, and government managers and team leads in multiple countries.

As a trusted confidant, Raven helps clients show up more powerfully, holds them to the utmost version of themselves, and gets them into action from their most sincere, authentic way of being. She helps clients recognize the obstacles in their professional lives and, when relevant, their personal lives, and discover the best way to move past them. Raven is a coach who thinks outside the box and will hold her clients' feet to the fire while also creating a relationship of trust and safety.

Raven is a creator and entrepreneur who has successfully launched multiple companies and businesses. She has firsthand experience in medical education as an instructor, and in the non-profit arts sector as an Executive Director and teacher. Raven's diversity of experience enhances her coaching, allowing her to listen to clients from multiple perspectives.

Raven received her coach training from Accomplishment Coaching (AC) and later returned to train and mentor new coaches through their Leadership Development Program. As a leader with AC, she also served as a member of the Diversity, Equity, Inclusion, and Belonging team. Raven maintains a Professional Certified Coach (PCC) credential from the International Coach Federation.

Raven lives outside of Richmond, VA with her husband and their precocious, entertaining daughter. Life is exciting, joyful, and full of love.
